1. Course Overview

In architecture, the capstone is the final piece that is placed on top of a construction. In a management course the construction is the steady and progressive sequence of courses that make up the management program. This course is designed as a ‘capstone’ experience for senior level business students.

The Capstone Business Simulation ties together and gives participants an opportunity to integrate, synthesize and apply all their previous learning both within and outside the classroom. Student teams will be making business decisions over multiple time periods – and examine their impact on the teams’ qualitative and quantitative performance.

This will stress a student’s and their team’s ability to assimilate and analyze information, draw meaningful conclusions, and recommend appropriate courses of actions to resolve complex issues in a changing competitive business environment. Each student be assessed based on their contribution to and their team’s performance in the Capstone business simulation. Additionally students will be assessed individually on their business acumen as learned in the simulation along with their business knowledge utilizing the Comp-XM online ‘final exam’. The Capstone and the Comp-XM enable both team benchmarking and individual comparisons on an International basis with other programs that also utilize the Capstone and the Comp-XM.

The Capstone Business Simulation Program requires students to synthesize concepts and techniques from previous MBA/PGDM courses, plus graduate education and work experience in an integrated approach to managing a complete business enterprise. The course utilizes a computer based simulation as the core teaching platform. Working in teams, students make strategic and tactical decisions in all domains of the business: product design and development, marketing and sales, human resources and employee relations, operations and production, management and finance – with an overlay of corporate governance and strategic management.

This course develops skills in matching organizational capabilities with competitive opportunities to improve business planning and performance. From the perspective of the general manager, emphasis is placed on learning to take entrepreneurial and socially responsible approaches to analyzing company options, to formulating innovative wealth-creating strategies, to implementing the strategies for optimal performance, and to managing unintended consequences.

Completion of the course, like the completion of an architectural construction, requires extensive teamwork as well as individual effort.

3. Course Delivery & Methodology

Capstone Business Simulation

The Capstone Business Simulation, used by more than 800 business schools world-wide including Wharton, Harvard, Kellogg, etc will be the principal teaching platform.

The Capstone Business Simulation is conducted with students organized into teams that represent different firms within an industry, which compete against each other over a number of years. Each firm begins at the same starting point, but progresses based on decisions made by it. The simulation will give student driven teams an opportunity in making important tradeoffs and decisions regarding strategy, marketing, operations, product decision, human resources, logistics, and finance issues in a live dynamic environment.

Instructions for registration on the Capstone Business Simulation and familiarization with the simulation interface will be emailed to all students. The same is simply and lucidly explained on the website and has numerous resources for help and assistance.

Annexure 1

Capstone® Business Simulation is a rich, complex business simulation designed to teach marketing, strategy, business finance and accounting, cross functional alignment, competitive analysis, teamwork and the selection of tactics to build a successful, focused organization. Participants will face a complex and rapidly evolving scenario in which business acumen is tested and enhanced through modelling, analysis and strategic planning.

In Capstone®, participants will run a simulated $100 million company for eight years (or rounds) as a team. The company they take over is unfocused and performing poorly. It is trying to support five products in very different market segments and faces constant customer demand for better, faster, cheaper products. There is immediate pressure for the management team to develop a strategy and implement it thoroughly with every decision.

At the end of the capstone business simulation program students do Comp-XM®, an integrated evaluation tool that will assess their business knowledge and business competence

The Capstone Business Simulation Program ties together and gives participants an opportunity to integrate, synthesize and apply all their previous learning both within and outside the classroom. Student teams will be making business decisions over multiple time periods – and examine their impact on the teams' qualitative and quantitative performance.

This will stress a student's and their team's ability to assimilate and analyze information, draw meaningful conclusions, and recommend appropriate courses of actions to resolve complex issues in a changing competitive business environment. Each student be assessed based on their contribution to and their team's performance in the Capstone business simulation. Additionally students will be assessed individually on their business acumen as learned in the simulation along with their business knowledge utilizing the Comp-XM online 'final exam'

Annexure 2

Grouping : The entire student batch would be divided into teams of six students each. If for example, there are 240 students, then forty student groups will be composed. All the groups will go through the simulation simultaneously. These teams within the simulated industry compete against each other in a dynamic and competitive business environment.

Pre-Simulation Reading: One week before the opening lecture, the students would be emailed instructions by BTL to register for the simulation and create their user name and passwords. There would also be pre-simulation reading and a small exercise. This is approximately 4 hours 'Own Time Work (OTW) and students would have a full week to do it.

Broad scheduling and timelines are given below. (these are approximate and will be time tabled as mutually convenient to both parties)

Day 1 and Day 2: Simulation Opening Lecture Series: (ONLINE). The Day 1 and Day 2 Lectures will be delivered online by BTL facilitator Mr Veer Mehta.

Day 1:

§ From 8.45 AM to 1 PM. (full batch) This session is to familiarize the students thoroughly with the simulation interface. Post this session the students would do Capstone practice round 1 as teams. This practice round is approximately 2~4 hours work.

Day 2:

§ From 9 AM to 1 PM. This is to debrief the students on Capstone practice round 1 (done on Day 1) and clear queries.

Day 3 till Approximately Day 55: Simulation Practice and Competition Rounds: These are done by the students as team OTW (own time work). Details as below.

§ Students will now do Practice Rounds 2, 3 and 4. Practice rounds are not graded and are simply to enhance the student's understanding and generate greater confidence in handling multiple business functions and variables concurrently. Each round takes 2~4 hours 'OTW i.e own time work.. Generally a 5 day window (a 20 hour window) is given to do each round (i.e., 2~ 4 hours OTW). Hence, this provides flexibility to students to work at their own pace and convenience. For each Round students would receive a customized, detailed online debrief, detailing their business performance along with detailed analysis and critique.

§ After Practice Round 4, students begin Competition rounds. These are Competition Rounds 1 to 8. These are graded. Once again, for each Round students would receive a customized, detailed online debrief, detailing their business performance along with detailed analysis and critique.

§ These 11 rounds (three practice and eight competition) will take approximately 50~ 55 days (at the pace of one round every 4~5 days). The pace / intensity could be varied as per need and context.

§ This pace can also be one round per 2 or 4 or 5 days as per student convenience and commitments or as decided between BTL and NLDIMSR.

NOTE: After finishing the Capstone rounds, students are well prepared, ready and eager for this individual exam.

Any Day from Day 55 to Day 58 : Individual Final Business Competency Examination:

§ Suggested Time: A 4 day window can be provided to the students to complete the exam. The exam needs 6-7 hours working time.

§ NOTE: After finishing the Capstone rounds, students are well prepared, ready and eager for this individual exam.

§ This examination is:

- Individual
- Online (students have to login to the Capstone website and take the exam)
- Self-paced
- Open-book with calculators permitted
- Single sitting.
- Non- proctored

Any One Day from Day 59 to Day 60 : Final Consolidation and Debrief Lectures Online by BTL facilitator. This is a two hour online session. Here students will be provided an exhaustive and consolidated analysis of their business performance along with reflection and lessons learnt.

Final
Results

Compiled marks of Capstone (done as a team) and final exam (done individually) would be submitted by BTL to NLDIMSR within 7 working days of the final lecture.

There will be 50% weightage to each- team work and the final exam.

Grading would be done by NLDIMSR as per their grading policy.

WHY CASH WAS/IS KING?

EVOLUTION OF MONEY

WHAT IS MONEY?

WHAT IS DIGITAL MONEY OR DIGITAL PAYMENTS?

DIGITAL PAYMENTS : OFFLINE VS ONLINE

01

Digital payment is not only applicable to e/m- commerce

02

It is equally applicable to Brick-n-Mortar (BnM) commerce too

03

In fact, E-payment using credit cards existed even before E-commerce came.

04

To be successful, any digital payment mechanism must be useful for both online (e/m-com) and offline (BnM) commerce.

PAYMENT PROCESSORS & PAYMENT GATEWAYS

PP is a generalized term to refer to a company that actually processes payments (via Card or EFTs).

PG is the server to which the merchant connects its e-com website./Offline channel.PG, at the back-end connects to one or more PPs.

PG lets e-commerce website/offline commerce know whether a payment is approved by the cardholder's bank, and then submits the charges for settlement

PG is the intermediary between merchant's website and PPs.

PG doesn't handle transaction requests itself unless it also backs up as PP at the back-end.

PG sends transaction requests to PP which then handles the transaction request

PP sends the authorization and settlement files (say, from Visa or Master Card) and distributes them across the network to the various PGs and merchant account providers.

PP also handles other aspects of the transaction such as the handling of chargeback requests

Dear Sir,

Greetings from MCX!

As per our discussion and inputs from legal counsel our existing MOU continues to be valid.

We can go ahead and continue with our initiative with deliverables on email. In this regard I am in communication with Jai Kotecha with whom we have shared an excel sheet to capture all the student details that would be required to populate the MCCP test requirements at our end.

We understand from our earlier conversation and your mail (see mail trail) that the numbers may not be 'exact numbers', as earlier indicated, however we anticipate numbers in a similar range and not be significantly different. All other deliverables will remain the same.

Dear Shrikantji,

Our Legal counsel has reviewed the addendum and the agreement in its entirety.

This has reference to our discussions this afternoon, kindly clarify as to the need of signing addendum to the existing agreement in place. Secondly, as discussed, please do not hold us responsible with the number of students attending the course and seeking certification at any point of time during the validity of the agreement. You see, numbers may go up and down as the same is not in our hands.

Hope you understand and find the mail in order.

Thank you and Warm regards,

I have reviewed the original MOU of Feb 2016. As per Clause 4 thereof, the said MOU is valid and subsisting even today.

The MCCP certification (at Rs.1500/- per student) is already covered in the MOU. So we need to figure out whether an Amendment is needed at all.

Dear Sir,

Greetings from MCX!

As per our earlier communication and my call to Jai Kotecha, we are pleased to inform you that MCX-Management has agreed to lower the MCCP test fee by Rs.1000/- per candidate. As you are aware our normal fee is Rs.2500/-plus GST and hence the fee will now be Rs.1500/-plus GST per candidate; exclusively for the 320 (Two Batches) of NLDIMSR students.

Do note that as already intimated in my precious mail (see trail mail) , this is an exclusive offer to NLDIMSR and is given in strict confidence. Our management has agreed to your request based on your assurance that both the batches (160+160)will be taking the MCCP online test.

where by the candidate will be able to take the test at his/her convenience from any location in India. Training material will be provided to every registered candidate in the form of a MCCP e-manual.

NLDIMSR and MCX have a MoU (copy attached) however it has expired and we may enter into a fresh agreement taking into account this initiative.

Looking forward to taking this initiative ahead quickly

Warm regards

Dear Sir,

Greetings from MCX!

I have put up the proposal regarding your request to bring down the cost by Rs.1000, (to Rs,1500/- plus GST) per participant from the current Rs.2500/- plus GST. I have intimated that this will be an exclusive offer to NLDIMSR in strict confidence, and that you would be extending the programme to a second batch, bringing the total to 320 students.

I will keep you informed regarding the decision on the same.

Dear Shrikantji,

Thank you so much for giving your precious time as always on call and also special thanks to Mr. Nikhilji from NISM without which it was not possible for me to get in touch to you since the last month. As per our telephonic call in the morning, request you to provide the customized 10 hours commodity market training program to our finance students which will help them to get a clear idea on how it works and also about its products.

Sincere apology for the mess being created couple of years back wherein the guests from MCX were being called from Delhi in our Institute and you need to bear the heat of it. We ensure that our relationship will be much stronger in the leadership of Dr. Tarun Agarwal (HOD - Finance and Chairperson - Placement) and will achieve new heights hereafter.

Thank you once again.

on 21 & 22 August 2021.

An Interview is not only about asking the right questions but also about getting the right information from the person to check his competency level and fitment for the job.

The recruitment process is important, but what is more crucial is the selection of the right candidate, the decision of which is made based on the interview you conduct.

We extend our gratitude to Dr. Frederick Correa, AVP Darashaw for guiding our students through nuances in the talent acquisition. The interview simulation conducted during this workshop would surely help our students to be smart recruiters of tomorrow

TALK

Topic: Talent Acquisition Simulation Workshop

Date: Saturday & Sunday,

21 & 22 August, 2021

Time: 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Talent Acquisition Simulation

A talent-acquisition simulation workshop was organized by the Expert Talk Team of HR Club on the 21st and 22nd of August, 2021. Dr. Frederick Correa, Vice-President HR of Darashaw conducted this workshop. He has a work experience of about 10 years and a proven record of creating and implementing HR strategies that successfully drive business initiatives related to profitability, talent development and effective change management. It was a pleasure for the students to gain knowledge through his experience and expertise.

The simulation was an extensive learning experience for all the HR students. Dr Correa took it in a steady and step-by-step manner, ensuring that all the students participate and understand the practical value of talent acquisition process.

To understand the existing knowledge of the students, an interview roleplay was done. While 3 students were a part of the roleplay, others were asked to observe and discuss later. Taking this roleplay as an example, the loopholes and better approaches were discussed.

The “how” of selection process involves “Authenticity”, “Objectivity” and “Credibility” as tools to gauge the effectiveness of it. This concept created a basis on which the entire perspective of the interview stood.

Further, we were explained the BARS (Behaviorally Anchored Rating Scale) and how it is useful in identification of behavioral competencies. To have more clarity, each student group was given one competency, for which they had to define three behavioral levels of poor, average and good using three traits. The purpose of this is that the interviewer should be able to align the observed behavior of the candidate with that given in BARS.

Next, the STAR and STEP approach was explained for framing questions. These frameworks are used to gauge the required information from the candidates. The idea is to form the questions in such a way that the candidate cannot beat around the bush and answer as required.

The 1st day ended with an assignment which included application for all the learnings. Each student group had to consider itself as a company visiting a campus for placements. Accordingly, a pre-placement talk had to be covered. Next, a strategy had to be formed to receive maximum applications from the students. The assignment further included deciding upon a job role, creating a job description for the same, preparing an interview evaluation sheet using the concept of BARS. It surely was an overwhelming and useful exercise. The dessert of this assignment was that each group will be taking interviews the next day. For this purpose, few students from the institute volunteered to act as candidates.

The 2nd marked the day of practically experiencing the campus hiring process.

With each group going through the steps of giving a pre-placement talk, explaining the strategy, sharing the job description and interview evaluation sheet and conducting an interview, the following observations and learnings were made:

- Pre-placement talk: Apart from the history and values of the company, students included unique policies and benefits to the employees, a video showing a glimpse of the infrastructure and the culture.
- Strategy: This part focused on the unique and newness in the ideas. Various strategies shared were- taking an alum along so that engagement and endorsement is better, arranging a competition and giving prizes, organizing projects and internship program, selecting a campus ambassador.
- Job description and Interview evaluation sheet focused on the competencies and the three behavioral levels.
- Conduction of Interviews: As we thoroughly practiced the framing of interview questions using STAR and STEP approach, each group had prepared a set of questions based on the job descriptions. We learnt that how the pre-set questions only help in case of reference and the major focus is on the answers of the candidate through which an interviewer asks more. It is the spontaneity of the whole entire process that drives it. Therefore, attentiveness, mindfulness, knowledge about the job role is extremely essential to carry out an interview.

Dr Correa took efforts to give feedback on each step about the improvements that could be included in pre-placement talks, the job description, interview evaluation sheet and pointed out the loopholes in the questions asked in interview and how can we get better at it.

At the end of two-days, the students who did not have any experience of talent acquisition, got to experience it in a meticulous manner and those who did, got to know how to improve themselves. This value-addition will definitely help all the students in the long-run.

the world's largest food and beverage company. We have more than 2000 brands ranging from global icons to local favorites, and are present in 187 countries worldwide.

Brief Introduction

Our history begins in 1866, with the foundation of the Anglo-Swiss Condensed Milk Company.

Henri Nestlé develops a breakthrough infant food in 1867, and in 1905 the company he founded merges with Anglo-Swiss.

This led to the formation of the Nestlé Group.

The group entered in India in 1961 and set up its first factory at Moga, Punjab.

Today we have eight factories and four branch offices spread across the country which are certified by SQS ISO 9001, FMS ISO 22000, EMS ISO 14001 and OSHAS 18001.

Management Trainee Program

- Nestlé MT program is a 12-month long program.
- It covers stints of varying durations based out of the corporate Head Office, Sales (Branch Office) and factories
- All the MTs necessarily go through the stints in order to further hone their skills and understand the overall business better.
- Along with autonomy the program offers you is a strong mentorship at every level.

Management Trainee Previous Experiences

The journey at Nestlé so far has been both challenging and rewarding at the same time. With no background in sales and a limited time frame to learn new things about a huge company, I had to deal with the challenges in the best ways possible. "Language was also a bit of a test for me as I was from Delhi and was posted in Bengaluru for my stint. But this is what Nestlé teaches you right from the beginning- take all challenges head-on. It pushes you out of your comfort zone and tests your mantle," recalls Mugdha.

-Mugdha Kabra, IIM Indore alumna
(Area Sales Manager at Nestlé)

Management Trainee Previous Experiences

"Understanding the organizational process in a small time span during the MT program is what appears overwhelming for a fresh joinee. However, with the ready support system that the MT program offers, you become comfortable with the lingo and company specifics. After spending a considerable time you understand stakeholder alignment, which is the key to any successful business," points out Anmol.
